You should (obviously) decide what your measures are before you collect data

You should also think about what your measures will look like before data collection.